

TAX REDUCTION IS FIRST AIM OF CONGRESS

HEALTHY FISCAL CONDITION OF THE NATION REVEALED

BUDGET MESSAGE PREPARED
BY PRES. HOOVER TO BE GIVEN SOON

FINANCIAL OUTLOOK IS GOOD
ENOUGH TO LIFT $160,000,000
FROM TAX BURDENS

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Dec. 2.—A substantial tax reduction for every individual and corporate taxpayer was the first business on crowded calendars as congress convened today for a regular session which may last eight months or more. The healthy fiscal condition of the government was outlined in a budget message prepared by President Hoover for delivery to both the senate and the house as soon as they are ready to receive it.

Tomorrow Mr. Hoover officially will inform the congress by his legislative message on "the state of the Union" that the financial outlook is good enough to warrant lifting $160,000,000 from the tax burdens of the people.

Wednesday, his secretary of treasury, Andrew W. Mellon, will go before the house ways and means committee to advise how the reduction should be applied. He will recommend a straight cut of 1 per cent from everyone's tax levy which will bring the normal income tax rates from 5, 3 and 1 1/2 per cent down to 4, 2 and 1 1/4 per cent, and reduce the corporation rate from 12 to 11 per cent.

Congressional leaders have made plans to handle the matter expeditiously. It is generally expected the reduction will be made law before adjournment, Dec. 20, for the Christmas holidays.

This bold stroke of the administration is founded upon the confidence of Mr. Hoover and Secretary Mellon that the business outlook points toward expansion. There will be no diminution in amount of taxes to be received next year, they say. Strong tax payments mean profits are being made by corporations and individuals, the administration leaders point out.

Unless they had confidence in prospective revenue they would hesitate to recommend a tax cut. By the move, they also expect $160,000,000 will be turned to productive enterprise, which otherwise would be absorbed by the government.

The congressional schedule calls for introduction of the tax cut resolution in the house today or tomorrow, and for reading of the budget message on Wednesday.

Leaders of both houses plan to adjourn the first day in respect to the memory of those who have died recently. Only preliminary routine business of opening the congress therefore will be transacted today.

The delay will not, however, interfere with the tax legislation program. The resolution will be presented to the house Thursday by the ways and means committee, and passed there Thursday or Friday, according to Chairman Hawley.

The first order of business in the senate is the case of Senator-elect William S. Vare of Pennsylvania whose friends spent $785,000 in a primary election three years ago. By special order the senate must take up Tuesday the Morris resolution proposing to deny Vare a seat on the ground that the expenditure of such a large sum of money is "contrary to sound public policy, harmful to the dignity and honor of the senate, dangerous to the perpetuity of a free government, and together with charges of corruption and fraud makes Vare unfit for his seat."

The republicans do not believe they have enough votes to seat Vare, but they are going to seek a postponement which might help his case. They want to wait the report of a committee which has investigated the contest brought by his defeated democratic opponent, William B. Wilson. Vare wants this delay, also, and the committee will meet today to act upon his request that the ballots of 31 more Pennsylvania counties be counted. Such a recount would bring additional months of delay.

If Vare's opponents persist in settling the case now, as they say they will, the republicans are preparing to offer a resolution declaring the seat "vacant," which will enable the republican Pennsylvania governor to appoint a republican senator to the vacancy.

The tariff bill which caused so much furor in the special session which closed 10 days ago is on the senate shelf. It will be brought up again when the Vare case is out of the way, and will be sidetracked only for tax reduction, the leaders say. They hope to get the tariff through the senate by Christmas.

After acting upon tax reduction, the house is to start work immediately upon the dozen appropriation bills. Much other legislation is to come up, concerning radio, government consolidation, roadways improvements, good roads building, naval cruiser appropriations, sums for prohibition enforcement and the proposal to make the buyer of liquor equally guilty with the seller.

The senate also is expected to consider whatever disarmament agree-

BATTERED HULK OF GRAIN SHIP POUNDS ON ROCKS

6 SAILORS PERISH IN WINTER TRAGEDY OF FURIOUS BLIZZARD ON GREAT LAKES

HEROISM OF COAST GUARDSMEN SAVE 18 MEN OF THE STEAMER KIOWA

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Dec. 2.—(U.P.)—The battered hulk of the grain steamer Kiowa, pounding on the rocks off Sable Point in Lake Superior today, told graphically of a winter tragedy of the inland seas in which six sailors perished Saturday night in one of the most furious blizzards ever known on the Great Lakes.

Heroism of coast guardsmen, who battled the mountainous waves and treacherous rocks to get a line across the Kiowa's bow, saved the other 18 aboard. The survivors, almost dead from exposure and exhaustion, were transferred from the wave-lashed deck to the bobbing boats of the rescuers by breeches buoy.

Captain Alex T. Young, son-in-law of O. W. Blodgett, president of the O. W. Blodgett Company, owner of the Kiowa, was among the dead.

He and four sailors were drowned when a lifeboat they had launched capsized, according to survivors. With him, they said, were the ship's cook, the wheelman, watchman and porter. The sixth sailor was found dead in a lifeboat.

The cargo of flax seed in the steel ship shifted as the storm tossed the craft about like a bit of driftwood and made her unmanageable, survivors said.

The Kiowa left Duluth, Minn., three days ago and was due here yesterday. When a tug picked up a lifeboat stamped with the ship's name and bearing the body of a dead sailor, coast guardsmen put out in the storm to search.

They came upon the half submerged craft at dusk. Breakers were driving her against the rocks like a battering ram.

The coast guardsmen fought for hours before the last sailor was brought off safely. Darkness fell soon after rescue efforts began and hampered the men.

Capt. H. G. Fisher of the coast guard here said the blizzard that had raged over the lake for 48 hours was terrific. "Snow came down in sheets and a howling gale sent it so thick it blotted out everything," he said.

The Kiowa, built in 1920, is 251 feet long and has a tonnage of 2,309. It had not been determined whether the ship could be salvaged.

Ice blasting boats had succeeded in punching a channel in the St. Mary's river, allowing 91 boats to proceed from Lake Superior through to Lake Huron. The craft had been icebound for some time and it had been feared they would be tied up until spring.

The freighter Queedoc, with a cargo of grain, went aground in the upper river last night, about 15 miles from here. The grain was removed in an effort to float her. The crew was safe.

FIVE FISHERMEN MAY HAVE PERISHED NEAR SANDUSKY, OHIO

Sandusky, O., Dec. 2.—(U.P.)—Five men were believed to have perished today in a fishing boat off Rattlesnake Island during the driving snow storm that swept the lake.

The United States coast guard after an all night search reported they held little hope for the men who were on the tug Steve V, owned by the Schacht Fish company. The men are Fred and Charles Volk, brothers; Joe Lake, Ed Voss and N. Climax, all of Sandusky.

ment is reached at the London disarmament conference next month.

In view of this heavy program, the leaders do not expect to adjourn the long session before June, if then.

6 Coal Miners Lose Lives in Explosion of Gas Pocket in West Frankfort, Ill., Mine

MUTE EVIDENCE OF THE RISK THEY FACE IN TOIL

BODY OF ANOTHER MINER STILL IN SHAFT OF OLD BEN NO. 8 MINE

BLAST OCCURRED IN A WORKED OFF SECTION OF THE COAL MINE

East Frankfort, Ill., Dec. 2.—(U.P.)—The bodies of six coal miners were mute testimony today to the risk thousands daily face in their task of supplying the nation with fuel.

At dusk yesterday the six lifeless forms were lifted from the shaft of Old Ben Mine No. 8 near here, where at 2:30 A. M. an explosion in a worked off section brought their death.

The body of another miner still was in the mine today and searching parties continued efforts today to locate it.

Mine officials said the death toll would reach no more than seven, they being the only men in the shaft at the time of the explosion.

The dead:
J. Baker, 25.
Dewey Baker, 28.
Henry Isaacs, 45.
E. E. Bredon, 40.
Veto Geridini, 35.
Thomas McDermott, mine examiner, 60.

James Tabor, night foreman, was said by officials to have been killed, although searching parties had been unable to recover his body at an early hour today.

Cause of the explosion was reported due to a coal gas pocket, but an investigation will officially determine what brought the blast.

12 ARRESTED AND 4 STILLS SEIZED IN RAIDS

4 CENTRAL MINNESOTA COM- MUNITIES VISITED BY PROHIBITION AGENTS

RAIDS WERE IN AND NEAR EL- ROSA, WATSON, MONTE- VIDEO AND AVON

St. Paul, Dec. 2.—(U.P.)—Twelve persons were arrested and four stills were seized in a series of raids on four central Minnesota communities over the week-end, Maurice Silverman, assistant enforcement chief in the northwest prohibition department, announced here today.

The raids were staged in and near Elrosa, Watson, Montevideo and Avon. All of the 12 arrested may be prosecuted under the Jones law, Silverman said.

Joseph Klensmidt was apprehended on his farm near Elrosa and was charged with possession of an unregistered still and with manufacture of liquor.

Eight persons were arrested in raids at Montevideo on charges of possessing unregistered stills, sale and possession of liquor and maintaining nuisances. They were Roy C. Hattie and Everett Erickson; Nels, Ole and Mrs. Nettie Bergstrom, Augusta Kurtzbein and Earl Eislshor.

John Bason and Max Smigelski were arrested on a farm six miles south of Avon and Carl J. Lund was apprehended in a raid at Watson.

VIRKULA-WHITE CASE REVIVED AT DULUTH TUESDAY

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT AT- TEMPTS TRANSFER FROM STATE TO U. S. COURTS

WHITE AWAITING TRIAL CHARGED WITH HAVING KILLED BIG FALLS CONFECTIONER

Duluth, Dec. 2.—(U.P.)—The celebrated Virkula-White case which first burst like a bombshell on a June night last summer, will be revived here again Tuesday when the federal government attempts to transfer the second degree murder trial of Emmet J. White from state to United States courts.

White, 24-year-old border patrolman, awaits trial charged with having shot to death on the night of June 8, Henry Virkula or Wirkkula, Big Falls confectioner, when Virkula failed to halt promptly on a highway about 25 miles south of the Canadian border for liquor inspection.

With the confectioner at the time of his death were his wife and two young daughters, none of whom was injured by the four or five shots from White's gun.

Events in the case tomorrow will be purely technical since they will consist only of arguments in United States district court on writ of habeas corpus to have the trial transferred from Koochiching county courts at International Falls to the federal court here.

It was expected that the attempt to have the trial scene moved would be successful in which case White will be brought into the courtroom sometime in early January.

David Hurlburt, Koochiching county attorney, has indicated that he will prosecute the charges against the young patrolman while the defense will be placed in the hands of federal attorneys.

White, who at the time of his arrest insisted that he meant only to puncture the tires on Virkula's automobile, is at liberty under $5,000 bond and recently has worked in the customs office here at the Head-of-the-Lakes. He was married last May shortly before he entered government service.

Washington, Dec. 2.—(U.P.)—Rep. Sam B. Hill, democrat, Washington, was severely injured today when he slipped on an icy pavement and jammed the stem of a pipe he was smoking through the roof of his mouth, severing an artery.

ANOTHER COLD WAVE HAS GRIP ON MIDDLE WEST

SPREADS SUFFERING, DEATH AS IT MOVES SOUTHWARD AND EASTWARD

AT LEAST 21 DEATHS BY FREEZ- ING ARE ADDED TO MOUNT- ING TOLL IN U. S., CANADA

Chicago, Dec. 2.—(U.P.)—Another cold wave, the second to sweep down from the north in 48 hours, held the middle west in its icy grip today.

Spreading suffering and death as it moved southward and eastward, the new onslaught of winter followed the course of its trail breaker, which had arrived on the Atlantic seaboard.

The frozen expanses of Saskatchewan sent the blizzard storm roaring over the Dakotas yesterday and by today it had engulfed the central states, bringing temperatures almost as low as the record breaking marks of last Friday and Saturday. A heavy snow blanketed the Rocky Mountain region.

At least 21 more deaths by freezing had been added to the mounting toll in the United States and Canada, while an estimated 30 had died in accidents attributable to cold, icy streets, or snow blanketed roads.

Hunters in the Michigan woods suffered severe hardships and it was feared a party of nine, reported missing on a launch on the Tugamenuan river near Sault Ste. Marie, had perished. The storm there had been so severe searching parties could not be sent out.

More than 20 automobiles filled with hunters were stalled by 15 foot snow drifts at Eckerman, Mich.

Relief workers toiled in cities, taking fuel and clothing to families on the points of freezing in tenements, while police stations and rescue centers were crowded with homeless men and women.

Storm warnings were sent to all points on the Great Lakes, where blizzards had been raging for days in many areas. Only a few craft braved the waves, and those without the protection of cargo insurance. Regular insurance on lake cargoes expired yesterday.

The Rocky Mountain region dug out from under the thirteenth and heaviest snowfall of the season.

The storm was general throughout Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico, with snow a foot deep in some sections.

Highways leading out of Denver were blocked by huge snowdrifts.

St. Paul, Dec. 2.—(U.P.)—Near zero weather returned to Minnesota and the mid-west today as a heavy snowfall turned highways into icy gales and slowed down motor traffic.

No temperatures comparable to the 20 below zero levels of last week were recorded but the United States weather bureau here warned that intense cold with perhaps snow in some sections of the state was in store.

At least two lives were lost in traffic accidents as a driving snow storm lowered visibility in Sunday's early morning blizzard. Airplane lines between the Twin Cities, Chicago, Des Moines and Winnipeg ordered all planes into their hangars after several scheduled flights were forced back.

Motor bus and train service was reported back on schedule today after disruption caused by snow and cold over the week-end. The state highway department here reported all roads in the state were open but warned of the danger of driving on the slippery pavements.

Temperatures generally throughout Minnesota were reported at slightly above zero early today but by mid-morning had climbed back to milder levels.

Much delay in train and automobile traffic was believed avoided by the heaviness of the snow, which prevented it from drifting. No snow plows were called out for either railroads or highways.

Reports here indicated the entire state from the Iowa line to the Canadian border was covered with its first blanket of snow this season. Last week's cold wave was said to have glazed the Mississippi river with a coat of ice as far south as Winona.

All crafts on Lake Superior were either making for port or tied up for the winter after the shipping season

KASHERMAN IS DENIED SUPREME COURT REVIEW

Washington, Dec. 2.—(U.P.)—Arthur Kasherman, Minneapolis, sentenced to 90 days in jail for contempt of court for refusing to answer a grand jury's questions as to whether he saw Chief of Police Frank W. Brunsell given a roll of money by Mose Barnett, today was denied a supreme court review.

Kasherman also refused to say whether Brunsell immediately arrested and imprisoned him without charge, and whether Officer Albrecht said to him in jail "mum is the word." Kasherman served a 30-day sentence for contempt for refusing to answer the grand jury's question, and was sentenced a second time after he refused to answer the same questions from a second grand jury.

Kasherman contended he was not in contempt because he asked the court to rule on whether he could refuse to answer the questions, on grounds that to testify might incriminate him. He also pleaded double punishment was being inflicted on him.

POLICE SERGEANT OF SUPERIOR SHOT AND CRITICALLY WOUNDED

Superior, Wis., Dec. 2.—(U.P.)—Police Sergeant Arthur H. Zimmerman, 48, was shot and critically wounded here early today, assertedly in an altercation with Patrolman Ben Meyers, a member of his staff.

Meyers was held under guard at headquarters and A. E. Buchanan, chief of police, said the patrolman had confessed to shooting the sergeant while in a drunken frenzy. Zimmerman was shot through the abdomen from a distance of three feet.

The shooting was said to have taken place when Zimmerman found Meyers intoxicated on duty, reprimanded him and warned the patrolman the incident would be called to Buchanan's attention.

No charges were placed against Meyers pending a change in Zimmerman's condition.

Honolulu, T. H., Dec. 2.—(UP)—The fate of the Reardon Smith Line freighter Norwich City, with its crew of 34, grounded on the treacherous reefs off Gardner Island, 800 miles from here, was uncertain today, more than 48 hours since word had been received from the stricken ship.

The freighter Trogate was ploughing at forced draft through stormy seas from Apia, 600 miles away, to answer S. O. S. calls from the Norwich city.

The last reports indicated the ship was in imminent danger of destruction.

LODGE OF SORROW OBSERVED BY ELKS

Ceremonies Take Place Sunday Afternoon at Elks Temple, Four Members Eulogized

W. S. McCORMICK IS SPEAKER

Musical Numbers Include Duet by A. C. Mraz and R. G. Jenkins, and Song by Elks Quartet

W. S. McCormick of Duluth, former Exalted Ruler of Duluth lodge and former District Deputy, was the speaker of the day at the local Elks lodge of sorrow held Sunday afternoon in Elks Temple.

Exalted Ruler C. C. Van Essen presided. Musical numbers included a song by A. C. Mraz and R. G. Jenkins and a selection by the Elks quartet which is composed of John M. Eyr first tenor, W. M. Anderson second tenor, A. C. Mraz first bass and Mel Bredenberg second bass. Miss Effie Drexler was accompanist.

The ritualistic work was well done. The eulogies reciting events in the careers of the four Elks who had passed away were given in a fine manner by the speakers. City Attorney D. H. Fullerton eulogized Jerome St Cyr, railway conductor, who died December 27, 1928. John A. Hoffbauer eulogized Col. A. J. Halsted, editor and publisher, former mayor, and pre-emption charter commission, who died January 30. Words of eulogy for Mal D. Clark, lawyer, who died January 19, were given by County Attorney A. J. Sullivan. The eulogy for Dr. F. A. Allen of Ironton who died May 18 was given by City Attorney D. B. McAlpin of Ironton.

Mr. McCormick in his address traced the growth of Elksdom. The order originated 61 years ago and now has 1,427 lodges with close to a million members. The Elks order is typically American. It stands for the best in Americanism. It is dedicated to good citizenship.

Elksdom promotes the welfare and happiness of its members, cultivates good fellowship and moves ever onward and upward. The tenets of the order were explained and analogies drawn by the speaker.

The value of friendship was stressed and the need of cultivating old associations.

"The most enduring memorial to Elksdom," said the speaker, "is to perpetuate the things that were dear to our absent brothers. We are pledged to raise the standard of human excellence in the community. We should always think less of what we want and more of what others need. One fault should never efface a multitude of virtues."

"Our value as individuals or as an organization is determined by the service we render. The annual services we hold are not mournful, for the mind dwells on the immortality of the soul and we know that those who are gone will again be seen by us."

GUARDED AGAINST T. B.

Zero weather means nothing in the lives of Jack and his companions at the Children's Preventorium near St. Paul, one of the institutions for the prevention of tuberculosis. Each day boys and girls with but little covering dash outside for air baths, while inside, lamps provide man-made sun light to keep them sun-tanned during the winter.

All Preventorium children have been exposed to tuberculosis in the home or are in danger of developing the disease because of a run down condition. To find children endangered with tuberculosis and to protect them from the disease forms an important part of the statewide work financed by Christmas Seals.

Tuberculosis kills one Minnesota citizen every six hours. Buy Christmas Seals and check this enemy.

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

December 2, 1904

Monday evening the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reichmann was celebrated at their home in Northeast Brainerd. They were presented with a fine silver service by the Germania Maennerchor, who attended in a body.

W. R. Hawkins of the Council Bluffs expects to move into the room now being occupied by the Skauge drug store. He will move in as soon as Mr. Skauge moves out.

The deer season closed yesterday and for a year again this particular species of game will have a rest, generally speaking. The season has not been a good one on account of the scarcity of snow, but notwithstanding, most of the Brainerd hunters have been successful and have brought in many very fine deer. County Auditor Mahlum issued 286 licenses this year.

The Bachelor Maids' charity ball given in Gardner hall last night was a decided success both socially and financially. The young ladies realized a neat sum which will be devoted to charity. Besides being the means of raising money for a good cause, the party proved one of the most dressy and artistic that has even been given in Brainerd. Graham's orchestra furnished the music.

A. L. Mattes, mill foreman for the Brainerd Lumber company after 16 years continual service with the company, has severed his connection. He has not as yet decided upon his future.

The Elks' lodge of sorrow will convene at the Brainerd opera house on Sunday afternoon. The service will be opened at 2:30 o'clock. The general public is invited to these services.

Judge J. C. Nethaway of Stillwater will deliver the memorial address. There will also be addresses by other well known speakers and a special program of music.

M. D. Derocher has taken a position temporarily looking after the interests of the Fitger Brewing company during the illness of George Donat.

Co-Lala Girls From Gay Paree in Joy Picture

French pulchritude, daring and spice right from the Folies-Bergeres in Paris form a background for some of the most highly dramatic scenes of Leatrice Joy's latest picture, "A Most Immoral Lady," coming to the Lyceum Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Parisian "it" comes in the form of a chorus of thirty beautiful French girls, real high-kickers from the Folies-Bergeres, who are shown off not only by daring costumes but through the use of some remarkable camera angles.

The scene represents the Muscovite Cafe of Paris, one of the many colorful locales used in First National's lavish production of the sensational stage play by Townsend Martin.

Other beautiful backgrounds, filled with the color of modern society life, include New York City's play places and Palm Beach.

FOLLERIN' THE BAND

WHO hasn't "follered" the band up Main street, or up Broadway or Michigan boulevard? Heart pumping joyously, feet beating the ground in time! Grandly intoxicating moment of childhood!

And—later in life—who hasn't felt a thrill as the conductor lifted his baton for the overture to begin? A moment pregnant with the glamour of the theatre! Music casts its spell throughout all the Ages of Man.

Is it wise then, in this enlightened and prosperous day to countenance substitution of a shadow of music for the real thing in the theatre?

Imagine the Irish following a Music Box on St. Patrick's Day! Or life and drum music by a Machine on Memorial Day! Incongruous? Of course, but not more so than a mechanical overture in the theatre.

Talking pictures—a new dramatic form; the radio—which transmits music directly and DOES reflect the artist's mood of the moment; the phonograph in the home—where living music usually is not available—are not at issue here. We are discussing only the SUBSTITUTION OF MECHANICAL MUSIC FOR REAL MUSIC IN THE THEATRE, in consequence of which Real Music is being eliminated in theatres.

Early Christmas Shopping

MERCHANTS of Brainerd and the Water and Light Board are to be commended for their early inauguration of holiday decorations. The colored flags and lights do much to swing the mind of the public to the fact that Christmas is just a little over three weeks in the offing.

Women who work long hours at painstaking tasks preparing presents which have that wonderful touch of love and sincerity of homemade articles are thus led to buy their supplies early.

The merchants of Brainerd have accumulated satisfying stocks and as every one knows, selections can be made much more easily and stocks are more complete now than in the eleventh hour rush.

What to buy is something that perplexes every member of the family. Hastily bought articles often do not reflect the spirit of the giver. Put time and thought on your selections and do your shopping now.

Sales people are more alert than when fagged out in the last week rush.

And you can get more appropriations from Pa by working gradually in installments than in making a drive in the last minute rush.

A Woman's Prayer

MRS. J. KETERI of Southeast Brainerd has voiced a prayer for thanksgiving which is a most worthy one. In a communication she states:

"Oh, how much cause would we have for thanksgiving, if we only understood, to open our hearts to thanksgiving and forgiveness. We people are, in truth, common, everyday people, to whom it is very hard to change quickly to what we are not.

"Now, let us try to think only of how much we have progressed in the past year through the teachings of love. Love is the biggest commandment in the law. 'Love thee one another as God loved his congregation.'

"Therefore, souls who give thanksgiving to God can carry paradise in their hearts already on earth. The cares of life rest lightly on him who gives thanksgiving to Jesus. Therefore, a prayer to God, Father on High, grant that we will know how to use our abilities to the best; to our work, grant your blessing; and realization to our hopes."

Christmas Seals

CHRISTMAS SEALS are on sale in Brainerd and throughout the county and should be purchased by every one. Their cost is so small, only a cent each, that they are within reach of all.

Through the sale of these messengers of goodwill, quiet and effective work is being done in combatting that plague of humanity, tuberculosis, and in bringing health and strength to undernourished children who might otherwise fall a prey to disease.

Through this work of education and alleviation, the toll of tuberculosis in Minnesota has been steadily lessened. We know of no undertaking which does so much good and which admits of so much direct application as the buying of these Christmas seals.

Everyone should buy them. Every gift and piece of Christmas mail should be decorated with these little harbingers of good cheer and health. Every penny spent adds to the healthful state of a community and makes it a better place in which to live.

Valuable Exploration Data

We believe that anything new explored by Commander Byrd in the Antarctic region is of value to the United States. Any claims to discovery as made by the commander are valuable and should be backed by the United States and protected.

Not so very long ago Alaska was deemed a land of ice and snow, a barren waste at the other pole. Since the purchase of this territory of Russia its fisheries alone have paid for the initial purchase price several times over, without counting in the value of gold mined, timber cut, furs gained, and even farm products raised within the shadow of the Arctic Circle.

No man can have the hardihood in these days of rapid development of old and new industries and especially of aircraft, to say that this or that territory has no value.

Those Traffic Signs

It appears that the traffic signs to be placed on certain "through" streets must await the action of the council in passing an ordinance declaring which streets shall be so designated.

It is hoped the council will take action and thus assist in cutting down accidents at busy intersections. As declared by Attorney C. A. Ryan, president of the Chamber of Commerce, most of these accidents occur because of misunderstandings about right of way.

If "cross street" traffic has notice by signs of the "through street" travel, it can guard against possible collisions.

Course on Poultry Raising

A COURSE on poultry raising for commercial purposes will be held at the University at St. Paul January 20 to 25.

The course will be arranged to benefit farmers in raising next year's crop. Hints and suggestions to be used during the hatching season will be given. The course will be held in connection with Farmers' and Homemakers' week, in which similar courses in practically every phase of agriculture will be conducted.

State Highway Patrol School

EARLE BROWN, head of the State Highway Patrol, is to conduct at his farm a school for applicants for patrol service. Fifty will go into three months training, studying geography, grammar, motor mechanics, road law, athletics and first aid, and from this group 35 will be selected to go on the force next summer.

THE no-decision type of debate popular in many households has been extended to the colleges too. South Dakota State college and Augustana college will debate December 12 in that manner on the subject of complete disarmament among the nations of the world.

Senate Veteran Dies

Senator Francis E. Warren of Wyoming, dean of the United States senate, died November 24 in Washington after a three weeks' illness from bronchial pneumonia. A Civil War veteran and champion in the cause of national defense, death ends long service in the senate.

WINNERS OF 4-H CLUB TROPHIES

Lois Bailey (top), 16 years old, of Eugene, Ore., and Theodore R. Lorenz, 20 years old, of Hitchcock, Okla., who were declared the outstanding 4-H Club members in this country. Each will receive a silver cup.

Human Felicity

Human felicity is produced not so much by great pieces of good fortune that seldom happens, as by little advantages that occur every day. Thus, if you teach a poor young man to shave himself, and keep his razor in order, you may contribute more to the happiness of his life than in giving him a thousand guineas.—Franklin.

Summing It Up

The art of making friends consists in doing graciously, quickly and cheerfully the things which will make others happy.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Obligations

To God we owe fear and love; to our neighbors justice and character; to ourselves prudence and sobriety.—Franklin.

Now-- You Can Have It

Victor Radio engineers—certainly the most expert and the most experienced in the field of sound reproduction—have made purity of tone possible and practical. They were commissioned to develop a radio sensitive enough to reach vast distances; selective enough to extract from the air precisely the entertainment you choose; powerful enough to bring this entertainment to you as if it were performed in your own home; simple enough for absolutely accurate, effortless operation. But most emphatically, Victor adopted the slogan, "There can be no compromise with purity of TONE."

Guessing Games

They were a lot of fun when we were youngsters, those guessing games. Guess who this is! Guess the number of beans in the pot! Guess how long the pendulum will swing! Sometimes we came pretty close to the right answer. Sometimes we were a long way off. Whichever we were, we all had a good time, and the worst guesser got as much of the evening's refreshments as the best.

How far away those guessing games seem now! And how they have lost their appeal. Perhaps it's because we learned, as we grew older, that to know is better than to guess. Guess which is the best package on the grocer's shelf! Guess which bolt of cloth is pure wool! Guess which talking machine will give us most satisfaction! No, guessing for those things wasn't so much fun. We wanted to be certain. And that was one of the reasons we turned to advertising.

Advertising takes the guesswork out of buying. It lets us know what is best and what is cheapest and what will last longest. It does away with unsatisfactory uncertainties. The advertisements in this newspaper tell a concise, interesting and accurate story about articles you need. Reading them is the surest and quickest path to wise buying. It eliminates guessing.

By reading the advertisements regularly, and buying advertised goods, you take the guessing out of spending your money.

SPECULATION OVER WHO IS ON THE ALL-AMERICAN TEAM

FANS AWAITING ANNOUNCEMENT TO BE MADE

UNITED PRESS ALL-AMERICAN
TEAM FOR 1929 MADE PUBLIC TOMORROW

SELECTED WITH ASSISTANCE OF COACHES, OFFICIALS AND FOOTBALL EXPERTS

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Dec. 2.—The close of another football season finds the fans of the nation awaiting announcement of the accepted recognition of individual performance, the annual All-American team.

With nearly 200 college, university and service eleven playing through representative and interscholastic schedules, the choice this year has been quite as difficult as any in the past.

The United Press All-American team for 1929, which will be announced on Tuesday, December 3, has been selected with the assistance of coaches, officials and football experts in every part of the country. It is truly representative of individual worth throughout the land.

Football as played today has been perfected—some of our educators say over-emphasized—to a point where the truly outstanding stars of any given season are not to be found in the line-ups of the better teams exclusively. The gridiron game has broadened out, and expert coaching has been made available for smaller schools so that if it were not for exhaustive research such as the United Press undertook this year in assembling its All-American team, many a football star, like Thomas Gray's rose, might bluish unseen and waste his ability on the desert air.

In order to be chosen for this year's All-American eleven, a player had to perform not only well but consistently. He had to stand up through a grueling season, and be a real tower of strength to his team, great or small, not merely brilliantly in a game or two. For this reason, the names of a number of players who were outstanding, incomparable in fact, in certain games, have been omitted from the United Press All-American team.

Albie Booth, Yale's extraordinary sophomore back, for instance, showed more football than any other player seen in the east, if not the entire country, in inspiring and leading his team to victories over Army and Dartmouth, but Booth was hurt and out of the Princeton game, a cripple and hampered to the point of virtual incompetency in the Harvard game. He deserves recognition as one of the most remarkable football players of modern times, but because he did not play throughout his team's schedule, he does not come up to the requirements of the 1929 All-American eleven.

Another such player was Al Marsters of Dartmouth, who was the meteoric back of eastern gridirons during the early part of the season, only to suffer an injury which ended his career before his team was finished with a difficult schedule.

Booth and Marsters were two of the year's greatest, yet neither met the All-American specifications.

Some of the stars who have been selected for honorable mention were stopped by their opponents in the final games of the year, but this seemed inevitable with football at its present pitch. No player, however great, could be expected to keep up the pace required by the modern game if his team's schedule was hard enough to furnish the requisite test.

Those who did surpass themselves and all their rivals for individual honors, and will be named on the United Press All-American team tomorrow.

SNOWBOUND HUNTERS HAD BEEN LOST 3 DAYS IN MICHIGAN

Soo Junction, Mich., Dec. 2.—(U.P.)—A party of eight deer hunters and a guide who had been lost three days on the Touchenaw river, reached here on foot yesterday.

The group, led by Joe Beach in his launch the Betty B., started for here Thursday. When they did not arrive Saturday fear was expressed that they had been frozen in the blizzard which swept the upper Michigan peninsula. The party arrived safely after abandoning their boat when it became frozen in the river and walking the remaining distance.

GLOBE TROTTERS ARE TO HOLD THEIR PRACTICE TONIGHT

MANAGER PETERSON ISSUES A CALL FOR NEW PLAYERS FOR INDEPENDENT NET TEAM

Lester Peterson, manager and booking agent of the Russell Globe Trotters, new Brainerd independent basketball team, has called for the first practice session of the squad this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. He is particularly anxious that all men interested in trying out for positions on the team report at this first practice.

The team opens a difficult schedule with Crosby on Dec. 11. The schedule will include a long road trip as well as a number of home and out-of-town games.

Frank Russell, owner of the Russell Creamery Company, is president of the club, which will be attired in new suits furnished by the Russell Creamery Company.

A number of old stars are expected to turn out for the first practice, but from all indications they will have a hard time holding their places against the flock of newcomers that are intent on earning regular positions.

Happy Days of Umpire Recalled by Veteran

Ever since "Steamboat" Johnson went into the Southern association as an umpire, fans have wondered why he always takes his money and jewelry on the field with him.

The thing is a mystery no longer. Steamboat is merely practicing safety first. Like the soldier who goes forth to war, he never knows whether he will get back to his home base—in this case his dressing room.

"Once," said Steamboat, "I did not get back. I went straight from the ball park to the jail. Incidentally, I spent the night therein."

"It was in Des Moines and on a Fourth of July, too. The home team was trailing, 1 to 0, and there were two out and a runner on third in the last of the ninth."

"The batsman hit to short and the fielder threw to the plate in time to get the runner. I tried to be pleasant, as is my custom, and said, 'The game is over, boys, let's go home to supper.' This was my way of calling the runner out."

Johnson's face and head are covered by marks left by flying pop bottles.

"The boys don't throw 'em like they used to," he noted. "Umpiring is getting to be a real delight. Sometimes, though, I miss the old days. But don't put that in the paper. The wolves might wake up and start throwing bottles again."

NOTRE DAME HAS CLAIM TO MYTHICAL CROWN

WON NINE CONSECUTIVE GAMES AGAINST MAJOR OPPONENTS, ALL AWAY FROM HOME

SEVERAL SOFT SPOTS IN SCHEDULES OF PITTSBURGH AND PURDUE TEAMS

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Dec. 2.—The nation's three outstanding football teams for 1929 are Notre Dame, Pittsburgh and Purdue.

Notre Dame has slightly the better claim to the mythical national championship by winning nine consecutive games against major opponents, all of them away from home.

There were several soft spots in the schedules of Pittsburgh and Purdue, especially the latter whose schedule was perhaps the easiest in the Big Ten.

The United Press ranks the leading eleven of the country as follows:

1. Notre Dame, Pittsburgh, Purdue.
2. Tulane, St. Mary's (California), Tennessee, Fordham, Texas Christian, Western Maryland.
3. Southern California, Southern

Old Master and Boy Wonder

By HARDIN BURNLEY

GOLF'S Winter campaign is in golf history. Old Master and Boy Wonder, they constituted a potent gallery magnet wherever they played. All accounts agree that most of this exhibition golf was superb; they shattered war on scores of courses.

For all too many years, the "Haig" has missed winning important American championships. Four times winner of the British Open, Walter has made comparatively weak showings in the U. S. He would like nothing more than to become A. P. G. A. champion.

That title would be of unusual value in the extensive foreign tour which he is planning for 1930.

Junip's tall blonde, who will be all of 22 next May, has hopes of winning the longest all-around and most prosperous two-man tour even surpassing that dazzle. Win-

Horton Smith is modest almost to a fault. But he does make it quite clear that he hopes to prove during the 1929-1930 tourneys that he is more than what many critics call him—"a great mechanical player." That estimate, it's whispered, heats Horton up far more than does the "houn' dawg yapping" of "Haig," who some like to "kid" his "Missouri farmer" partner.

Win or lose, leading or in the ruck, Haig the Sophisticat and the Unspoiled Boy from the Ozarks will draw big galleries—for each has tons of sporting "IT."

"The Masked Hostess"

by BLAIR STEVENSON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

An old abandoned Long Island estate, "The Firs," is the only inheritance Nathalie Van Slaick finds has been left by her once wealthy sportsman father, "Happy Jack" Van Slaick. Repulsed by her rich aunt, Mrs. Pemberton Swayne, Nathalie, in desperation, cashes a check knowing she has no funds in the bank. With no other resources, Nathalie agrees to act as hostess to a rich South American, Capt. Ramon Stefano, who has taken over "The Firs" supposedly to entertain his wealthy friends. She does this on one condition, that she is to remain masked and her identity to remain a secret. John Sloan, young lawyer, assigned to care for Nathalie's affairs, has fallen in love with Nathalie. Without her knowledge, Sloan has made good the false check. He warns her of this strange venture she is about to embark upon, fearing her romantic nature will force her to capitulate to Stefano's charm and the spirit of adventure attending her unusual position. Neither of them knows that Stefano is without funds and is being financed by Ferris, a New York ex-policeman, who wishes to locate Nathalie and obtain possession of "The Firs," knowing that a new state road will enhance its value. Long Island's wealthiest society people attend the opening of "The Firs" and are intrigued by the Masked Hostess, who is disguised as a black-haired senorita. Nathalie is delighted when none of her friends recognize her. Nathalie, fascinated by the handsome Stefano, finds herself in his arms, but quickly eludes him as his lips reach for hers. Next day, receiving an advance payment of $1,000, Nathalie goes to Brookville to the bank. She meets John Sloan. In Southampton, Mrs. Pemberton Swayne, reading a society paper, learns of Stefano's adventure. In New York, Ferris, mysterious ex-policeman, likewise is irritated when he reads of Stefano's intriguing Masked Hostess. Meeting Stefano, Ferris questions him about the Masked Hostess.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXII.

WITHIN twenty minutes, so rapidly did cars roll up to the door and discharge their laughing passengers, the house was filled with cowboys, spysies, Watteau shepherdesses, oriental dancers, milk maids and girls in all the court costumes of history.

There was no lingering away till several hours after midnight as there had been before on other party nights. Whoever was coming appeared early. Within an hour no more cars arrived and the whole lower floor of "The Firs" was jammed.

Stefano, who had come into the house determined that he would watch sharply for Nathalie or anyone related to her and if possible get the address of the law firm Ferris wanted, felt his spirits go down as he looked about him and realized that the high hearted gathering which hemmed him in was a human labyrinth in so far as he might hope to identify any reasonable part of the young men and women he saw about.

A few, because of some special physical characteristic, he managed to pick out. But the overwhelming majority were disguised beyond all identification. It seemed to him that they must have gone to pains to make themselves unknown. And this was quite true, for they were uniformly young people of intelligence and imagination who saw in the main other frequently and in the main had known one another from childhood. So they had put thought into their costumes and make up—had been thorough each in his or her determination to be as perfectly disguised as clothes and color and face stain could bring it about. He was disconcerted, as he noted the number of girls in Egyptian, Hindoo, Persian, Manchu and Arab Costume, at the realization that scores of them had colored their faces with pigments to be appropriate to the costumes they had on and render their disguises deeper. All about him he could see false hair arrangements, for long tresses and hair built up in high masses were on every hand. Out of costume nearly all the girls in his house were smoothly bobbed. So of course the variegated coiffures above the masks beneath them were nearly all transformations. And he knew—being a person of imagination himself—that all who were normally fair haired were brunettes tonight and the other way about.

He looked at Nathalie—with never an intimation that she was the very person he was being paid to find, and the search for whom was responsible for the house being open at all—and was glad that he had seen her Spanish dancer's dress and had noted the color of it while she stood alone in the entrance hall as the others trooped in. But because he was used to seeing her masked he was sure he would have known her anyway. She beckoned to him and he went to her swiftly.

She indicated the masked and costumed dancer.

"Did you have any forewarning of this? Of course you couldn't have as you're the only one here unmasked."

He shook his head; "Absolutely not the smallest. Amazin', isn't it? Somewhere in the mad maze there's a master organizer, what? Wonder whose notion it is?"

"Whoever thought it up," agreed Nathalie, "has put energy as well as secrecy into it. My guess is that some clever girl thought it up last night or the night before and kept her idea strictly to herself until this morning. Then of course she began telephoning in every direction and the result is this. It's been awfully well done—and of course makes things tremendously easy for me. I've counted eleven other Spanish costumes; two of them orange like mine."

Stefano pondered this. "Sharp idea that," he said in a moment, "and for that very reason watch out. What I mean is, dear girl, that it's quite possible that somebody—one hasn't a notion who of course or one would say—may have planned this whole lark just to throw you off guard and pierce the secret of your identity."

Nathalie laughed but rather nervously. "Thank you. I would not have thought of that. But who in the world?"

Stefano shrugged his shoulders.

"Don't know but almost any shrewd person might work it out. Not that I can imagine whoever may have means you anything but well. Possibly some chap that's gone mad about you and must know who you are or perish—or more probably some woman who's perishing out of sheer curiosity." He stopped and then added, "Me you absolve of course as you've my pledge. If your mask fell off this instant, on my heart I'd look the other way."

Nathalie looked at him full of kindly admiration. "You would. I'm sure of it. Tomorrow night by this time the two days I asked you to give me will be up. When they are I will lower it myself."

He lifted her hand to his lips, lightly but moved away. Her closeness to him had begun to shake the caution that had come to him on his drive to the house.

A girl dressed in Moroccan costume took his arm as he started over to speak to the leader of the musicians and then cast herself against him and told him he had to dance with her. He could not at all tell who she was. She seemed to delight in it as her eyes, full of mischief in the black silk oval of her mask, taunted him. She was less than perfectly steady for she had reached often at the endless trays of cocktails which servants were carrying about.

"Thanks for your strong right arm, Stef," she told him her articulation anything but crystal clear as a pair of dancers caromed against her and he had to hold her up. "Love me?"

"Right you are," he assured her as again she was squeezed in the mill and he had to support her afresh.

"Know me?" she asked. "In a million," he said over her shoulder. "Never was a girl like you."

"Except millions of 'em." She laughed hysterically. "You're a darling Stef. You'd marry me or anything. But you don't have to. Won't let you. Love Monty too much."

She let go of Stefano as Monty Delaney, with a glass in each hand, came from somewhere, his harlequin suit ripped at one shoulder and his mask hanging around his neck. He had been more than wobbly when he reached the house but had drunk himself fairly sober again.

"For God's sake Stef," he whispered to Stefano, "help me get her out to her car. She was at a dinner party at Piping Rock before she came here and had a touch too much. Promise you'll run her straight home. If big boss mamma ever sees her like this I'm sunk. She's an engaged girl, too—engaged to me."

They steered the girl skilfully, out of doors and into a car. She laughed as she fell back upon the luxurious upholstery and then one by one threw off her head dress, her wig and her mask. It was Sylvia Swayne.

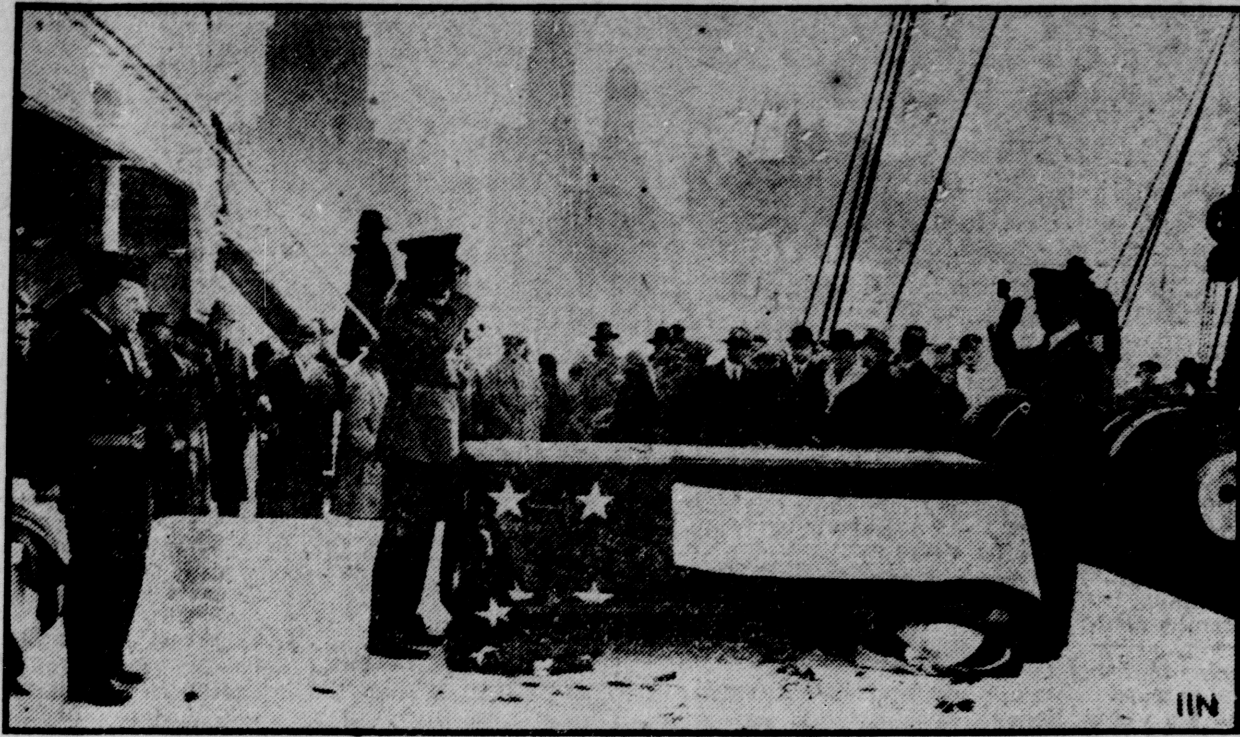

"You're insane Monty," cried Stefano as Sylvia leaned back and instantly fell asleep. "Take her to anybody's house but he—what if her mother's waiting?"

"But I know she isn't," Monty and hopped in. "She's my beloved. She's in the car. Your house checking up where she is. I was she put this party over on you, old boy. Look for a lady in crimson and a mantilla."

TO WORLD'S END

The South Pole was the successful goal of Commander Richard E. Byrd and his three intrepid aerial comrades. Brainerd took a deep interest in the aerial flight of exploration as Captain Ashley C. McKinley, formerly of this city, was the photographer in the party. His will be the first air pictures of the pole and vicinity, and will mean much in the exploration claims made by Byrd. TAKE IT FROM DAD

By Frank H. Cheley

I'm Going to Quit School and Go to Work

Bob was all boy, every inch of him! To call him an animated interrogation point would be putting it mildly; alive from head to toe, eyes open, ears open; his mind an endless sensitive movie film catching everything that came his way; a growing, unfolding young modern American (of which there are some twenty-five million more or less in this land of ours).

Above everything else Bob was a never-ending array of questions. No sooner would Dad have his dinner and get comfortably settled with his paper than Bob would appear, after twelve hours of busy activity, as fresh as a lily and loaded with a new perplexing query for Dad.

It got to be a regular game at the Smiththougs, this question and answer matter, until Dad Smiththough often found himself wondering through the day or as he relaxed a bit on the way home, what fool question Bob would have concocted for him that day.

His dad had always been too busy for questions and he often recalled as he pondered some of the "staggerers" his Bob handed him, how different he might have been if his father had only talked things over with him!

So, after Bob Smiththough had flooded his dad a few times with queries that were too deep for the old gentleman, he began to prepare himself.

Tonight, obviously, something was wrong. Bob was quiet, almost melancholy and noticeably irritable. Something had gone wrong! In due time it would come out and it did. When both gravitated to the living room, without much ado and no introduction to the subject, Bob seated himself half dejectedly and asked his question by way of an ultimatum.

"Pop, I'm going to quit school and go to work."

"That so," said Dad, without looking up. "Been elected president of an oil company or director of the United States Steel Corporation? Congratulations, n. boy, I didn't suppose you had sufficiently trained your mind as yet for so great a responsibility. Now if you had said you were going to work on a road gang or had a job delivering milk, I would have understood."

There was a friendly twinkle in Dad's eye and a humorous tone in his voice. "When I was your age, Bob, I'd have given anything I possessed to have gone to school and I didn't have any modern university like your new school to go to either, but I had to work to help the old folks make ends meet. The thing which I knew best was that I didn't know much. I read a good deal and was just sort of half conscious of a great marvelous world about me and I was hungry to learn. I didn't want to live in my little world always. I wanted to know about science and invention and travel. I was hungry to be in the midst of the big things of the world. I was earning twenty dollars a month and my room and board and lived twenty miles from anywhere. I longed to be in the midst of things; to be a somebody and do something beside hard manual labor all the time. I had to fight for my chance, Bob. Yours came without a fight, that's why it seems worthless to you."

"What's wrong—teacher ridden you a bit, perhaps pawled you out? Perhaps you bluffed and got caught! Yes—well take your medicine like a man, my boy, but listen, remember you're a Smiththough—the only male descendant. Dad's counting on you to do at least some of the things he wanted to do and dreamed about but never could. Quit school? Nonsense! Listen, the only thing in the world they give away today is an education. A regular boy who means business can have all of it he'll take. Think of it, all the education that you'll accept, free; high school, college, and then on and on if you desire. It's simply up to you. The big stick of modern achievement is in your head, boy. See that little stubby red volume there on the shelf. That's the latest 'Who's Who in America.' Bob, there are about thirty thousand brief biographies of American men and women of accomplishment in that book—the folks who have led out in every single realm of constructive thought and action—only twenty-seven of them stopped school in the eighth grade."

"The other day I saw a very interesting query. 'When is a man educated?' and the answer was, 'When he can look into a mudpuddle and see more there than mere mud!' Bob, education is the knowledge of how to use the whole of one's self, and no boy in the eighth grade has ever approached that point."

"It's true college doesn't make fools, it just develops them. If you're a dumbbell you haven't much chance, but Bob, you're no dumbbell. You have the physique and the mind in the making, but it takes effort and struggle. Now get at your lessons. Know a little more history than your teacher tomorrow."

And Bob did!

TWO BOYS TAKEN FROM TRAIN HERE

International Falls Youths, Penniless, Attempt to "Bum" Ride Home

WIRE PARENTS FOR FUNDS

William Smith, Colored, Bound Over to Next Term of District Court

Two youths from International Falls, half frozen and penniless, were taken from a passenger train here last night by Carl E. Jacobson, special agent of the Northern Pacific railway company. The two boys, Dan Brown and Noel Turenne, were attempting to "bum" a ride from Minneapolis to their homes in International Falls.

They were arraigned in municipal court this morning before Judge J. H. Warner on the charge of trespass on trains. The boys were fined $5 each or five days in the city jail. After the hearing they wired their parents in International Falls for funds and railway fare home.

William Smith, colored, who has lived near Platte Lake for the past five or six years, was arraigned in municipal court this morning before Judge J. H. Warner on a statutory charge. Smith waived examination and his bail was set at $2,500 to appear at the next term of the district court to be held in May 1930. In the case of default he will be committed to the Crow Wing county jail to await the action of the court.

900 NEW SEATS FOR PARAMOUNT ARRIVE

Large Aisles to Make Brainerd's New Theatre Very Comfortable

Nine hundred new seats for the new Paramount theatre under construction on Front street arrived in this city this morning. Manager George D. Irwin stated this morning that the work of installation will soon get under way. He added that the aisles in the new theatre would be made especially large to make the theatre as comfortable as possible.

"One of the most vital factors in providing comfort in the Paramount theatre, is the seating problem, which has been solved by the Heywood Wakefield Company of Chicago, who will install the 900 theatre chairs for Brainerd's newest and finest theatre," says Mr. Irwin.

Especially designed and constructed to harmonize with the architectural decorative and engineering scheme, these chairs represent the utmost in scientific theatre seat construction.

Of special designs with metal standards, decorated to harmonize with interior decorations, these chairs are unique in the fact that all hinges are of the ball-bearing type, noiseless in action. All chairs have spring seats.

The seats are balanced or pivoted in a manner which enables them to automatically adjust to the proper incline to provide greatest comfort to the occupant in any position. In other words, the seats do not hold a fixed relation to all positions of the occupant, but tilt to the angle the position demands. This relieves the under leg muscles of pressure and constitutes a seat not only hygienically correct from the scientific standpoint, but from comfort as well.

LAWS ON CUTTING CHRISTMAS TREES

Forestry Department Makes Appeal to Stop Wanton Waste of Spruce

HOLIDAY SEASON CLOSE AT HAND

Unlawful to Cut Trees Without Written Consent of Owner of Land

With the holiday season at hand the annual rush of Christmas trees to the various parts of the state is on.

The State Forest service according to Ranger C. C. Carlton, is not trying to discourage this old custom but it is trying to discourage the wanton waste of our none too plentiful spruce trees. "Cut just enough trees to supply your customers. Where is there a more pitiful sight than a vacant lot stacked high with beautiful trees only to be burned after probably two or three hundred trees have been sold?" asked Mr. Carlton.

To those who are not acquainted with the new laws governing the cutting and transporting of Christmas trees the following will be of value. Chapt. 10 laws of 1927 as amended by chapt. 285, laws of 1929.

"No person shall cut, remove or transport for decorative purposes or for sale, in its natural condition and untrimmed, any growing pine, cedar, evergreen or coniferous tree, bush, sapling or shrub (except nursery stock) without the written consent of the owner of the land on which the same is grown, whether such be publicly or privately owned.

"Such written consent shall contain the legal description of the land where such tree was cut, as well as the legal owner thereof and such written consent or copy thereof certified as a true copy by the person to whom such consent was given, or by the register of deeds of the county in which the land is situated, if recorded in his office, shall be carried by every person cutting, removing or transporting any such trees, and shall be exhibited to any officer of the law, forest ranger, forest patrolman, game warden, or other officers of the department of conservation at his request at any time."

Any further information can be obtained at the local forest rangers office located in the court house at Brainerd.

TUBERCULOSIS CLAIMS 13 LIVES

Record Given for Crow Wing County by State Public Health Association

Disease Can be Prevented and Cured by Aiding Christmas Seal Sale

Tuberculosis claimed the lives of 13 residents of Crow Wing county during 1928, according to a report just issued by the Minnesota Public Health Association in connection with the Christmas seal sale. Four of these deaths occurred at institutions and other places outside of the county.

"Every six hours tuberculosis takes the life of a man, woman, or child somewhere in Minnesota," says a bulletin from the Minnesota Public Health Association. "Throughout the state there are now 13,000 people with active tuberculosis."

"In 1928 tuberculosis caused the death of a total of 1,460 people in the state. A study of the records shows that the disease was dangerous to babies, taking the lives of 21 infants under one year of age, and 21 when they had reached their second birthdays. It then subsided somewhat until the age period of 10 to 14 years, at which period 32 succumbed to the disease." At that carefree time from 15 to 19, this enemy of youth forged ahead at an alarming rate, claiming as victims, 108 boys and girls.

The ratio of deaths at these ages was two girls to each boy. From 20 to 34, when young men and women are establishing homes and getting started in industry, tuberculosis killed 500 Minnesotans. Between 35 to 44, the best years of life from an economic standpoint, 268 lives were snuffed out by the disease.

Although tuberculosis still remains the principal cause of death in the age period from 15 to 40, it has dropped from first to sixth place as a cause of death in Minnesota, the bulletin points out. Only eight states in the union have a lower death rate from this disease. It is anticipated that the death toll from tuberculosis throughout the United States this year will number between 90,000 and 100,000 people.

"Tuberculosis can be prevented and can be cured," the bulletin declared. "Help prevent and help cure it by doing your part in the Christmas Seal sale."

ST. CLOUD FIREMAN FRACTURES SKULL FIGHTING HUGE FIRE

RAYMOND BROS. TRANSPORTATION CO. BUILDING HAS $67,500 LOSS

FIRE IS BELIEVED TO HAVE STARTED FROM EXPLOSION OF STOVE

St. Cloud, Minn., Dec. 2.—(UP)—Robert Peschal, a fireman, was in a critical condition in a hospital here today from injuries received while fighting a fire which destroyed the Raymond Brothers Transportation Company building with an estimated loss of $67,500 Sunday night.

The fire was believed to have been started by the explosion of a stove on the first floor of the building and was well under way when firemen arrived. Only three of ten loaded trucks in the building were saved.

Peschal suffered a fractured skull when he slipped and fell from a ladder, striking his head on the nozzle of a hose. He was still unconscious today and physicians said his condition was serious.

Officials of the transportation company said the loss included $55,000 in trucks and merchandise and $10,500 for the building.

TERS ST. LOUIS THEATRE

CRIME COMMITTED BY TWO MEN WHO PRESUMABLY KILLED HIM FOR REVENGE

St. Louis, Dec. 2.—(UP)—State Sen. Joseph Mogler was shot to death today as he entered a neighborhood moving picture theatre he owns here.

Edward Phinny, custodian of the theatre, told police two men participated in the crime, one guarding him while the other lay in wait at the door for Mogler. The senator was shot once through the head.

When police arrived they found the body guarded by a large black cat. Mogler was president of the Mogler Amusement Co. and a vice president of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America.

The fact that Saturday and Sunday receipts of the theatre were not taken by the slayers convinced police revenge rather than robbery was the motive. Mogler frequently acted as a professional bondsman.

The Back Door looks a little neglected, doesn't it? For one thing, the screening has rusted and fallen away in spots. Doesn't keep the flies out. And the delivery boys and the ice man have soiled the woodwork. It does look mussy. It isn't much of a job to put in new netting and to paint the main door and the frame of the other. Let's get busy. What do you say?
